With busy schedules it can be difficult to fit a whole 18 day training into your life in one go. So MetaMorphosis training is split into three, six-day blocks to make it easy for you.

The modular and flexible style of the training means you can complete your certification at your own pace provided that each block is completed in order and that all three blocks are taken within 5 years. This is an important consideration for busy professionals. You also get an extra opportunity to learn by practising the skills in between each module.
